

Aerial InCircle™

Helping patients play a key role in their own recovery, health and wellness: the Aerial InCircle™ app

There's a saying that "the patient is the most important member of the healthcare team." That statement, however, is easier said than put into action, especially when the patient is not on the premises.

This situation brings up some very good questions for patients: How can I communicate with all the people in my circle of care? How can I be sure everyone's on the same page? How do I know I'm doing the right thing to speed my recovery or manage my condition? How do I connect as a person, not just a patient? Where do I go from here?

Today, however, those questions are being answered with the Aerial InCircle™ mobile app, which operates in real-time to connect everyone in the care circle – including the patient.

Gain knowledge and strengthen relationships

With Aerial InCircle, users can:

- Actively participate in their care, treatment and wellness plans.
- Access real-time information and insight into their health.
- Learn about potential risks and adverse events.
- Hold meaningful conversations with physicians, caregivers, family and friends, who can help in their pursuit of health and wellness.

Aerial InCircle™ is an easy-to-use and familiar technology that helps patients manage their healthcare more effectively through communication and collaboration with their care team and caregivers.

Keeping the care circle strong

- InCircle is compliant with the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996, legislation that provides data privacy and security provisions for safeguarding medical information.
- All conversations on InCircle are secure and accessible only to circle members.
- A record of all conversations within the patient's circle is maintained.
- Patients don't have to wait for an appointment or scheduled meeting with the care manager to communicate.
- Constant communication with the care manager prevents situations from escalating.
- There is no need to remember phone numbers or look in directories, as patients can call their care manager from the InCircle app.
- InCircle saves time, money and travel to provider offices for every consult.
- Pictures can be shared securely with the care team.
- InCircle provides patients with a more private and secure way of interacting with their care team while at work or in public places.
- Users can create multiple circles with unique members to have appropriate conversations, while assuring the right people are involved in all relevant circles.

With secure, mobile messaging connecting the team and connected to care plans, InCircle is a necessary tool in supporting the patient's critical role in effective healthcare today.
